

We have a new way to partner with Learning2 in 2023/24

Sharing the legacy of your school community is an ongoing conversation. Let us help you share that story and invite educators around the world to better understand the opportunities you offer. Ready to leverage your Learning2 school partnership?

We will be hosting the L2 Europe Conference 2024 at American School of Paris and are excited to see many educators joining us there to share, learn and collaborate : Embracing Innovation | Empowering Thinkers

You are kindly invited to purchase a digital space on our 'partnership schools' page on our conference website <https://learning2.org/partnership-schools/>

What might schools use this space for?

- Post about current/possible openings or share recruitment information
- Introduce their school and community
- Explain how their school is connecting to the conference theme/learnings
- By participating at the conference, engage with educators from the region
- Are you doing research or looking for feedback outside of your school community? Learn more about the needs, challenges and interests of the innovative global educator community

This new opportunity is open to our current partner schools only.

- To reserve a space on the website as a school partner you can book one of the ten spots for US$150.00
- Add your school logo to the conference banners and show our participants your commitment to the L2 learning community for US$100.00
